To Whom it may Concern,

I Have been affiliated with Vascure Natural for almost three years now. My initial interest in this company and their all in one cholesterol lowering product revolved around a growing subset of patients with high cholesterol who had tried multiple statin drugs but were not able to continue any of them because of disabling side effects. The combination of red yeast rice and plant sterols, combined with CoQ10 seemed like a reasonable and important option for this group. Red yeast rice and plant sterols are well known to lower cholesterol and CoQ10 may help prevent side effects of cholesterol lowering medicines. I have seen LDL reductions of approximately 30% and triglyceride reductions ranging from small percentages to as much as 60% reductions. The all in one product helps lower cholesterol and triglycerides in patients who can't tolerate statins but are exposed to an increased risk of vascular disease in a safe and tolerable way.

Sincerely,

Dr. Gregory Cuzzo, MD
